

Middlesex Water CEO Dennis Doll to Discuss Technology Strategy for 21st Century Utilities

June 23, 2008

ISELIN, NJ -- (MARKET WIRE) -- 06/23/08 -- Dennis W. Doll, President and Chief Executive Officer of Middlesex Water Company (NASDAQ: MSEX), a leading provider of water and wastewater services in New Jersey and Delaware, will discuss the process by which the Company is developing a cohesive business and customer-related information technology infrastructure. Topics covered in the presentation will include how Middlesex Water is intending to support efficient end-to-end business processes utilizing robust technology to aid in achieving profitable growth, enhanced service delivery for customers and overall improved shareholder value.

Mr. Doll will be delivering his remarks on Tuesday, June 24, 2008 at 1:00 p.m. ET via an interactive online WaterWorld Magazine webcast sponsored by Oracle Utilities. Advance registration is required to view the webcast. To reserve your webcast seat now, please register at <http://www.ian.ibeam.com/events/penn001/26841>

About Middlesex Water Company

Middlesex Water Company, established in 1897, provides a full range of regulated and non-regulated water, wastewater utility and related services in parts of New Jersey and Delaware. The Company has nine subsidiaries through which it designs, builds, manages, owns and operates water and wastewater assets, conducts municipal contract operations and public/private partnerships and provides water and sewer line maintenance services. Middlesex Water and its subsidiaries have more than 125,000 customers and serve a population of over 400,000. For additional information regarding Middlesex Water Company, visit the Company's web site at www.middlesexwater.com.

Contact: □

Bernadette Sohler
Vice President - Corporate Affairs
Middlesex Water Company
bsohler@middlesexwater.com □
732-634-1500 □